

GDGPS, Sarita Vihar, organises discussion on career counselling

The session received immense appreciation from both the students and parents.

GD Goenka Public School (GDGPS), Sarita Vihar, organised a panel discussion on 'Choosing the right career streams' under the aegis of its flagship career counselling programme called Udaan: A Gateway to Future.

The panel comprised the school's senior wing faculty members. Those members had a collective experience of over six decades. The session was moderated by school counselor Urvasi Sareen.

School principal Seema Sahay addressed the gathering of parents and students of Classes 9-11, emphasizing the importance of mapping the aptitude and interest of the children in making important decisions.

The panelists clarified the scope of each stream of Science, Commerce and Humanities beyond the traditional career options. They dispelled several myths about intelligence and scores with relation to choosing a specific stream in Class 11 and laid emphasis upon the child-centric decision-making process.

Headmistress Rachna Trehan summed up the session by reiterating the importance of exploring and researching about plenty of options available, rather than restricting oneself to only hearsay or popular belief. The session received immense appreciation from both the students and parents.
