

THE TIMES OF INDIA

STUDENT EDITION

MONDAY, MAY 8, 2017

SCHOOL IS COOL

The beauty and relevance of Kathak

GD Goenka Public School, Sarita Vihar hosted Padma Bhushan Uma Sharma as the esteemed guest and artist for the day to enrich students with the nuances of traditional dance form Kathak along with formal education. Sharma enlightened the audience with aesthetic etiquette in Kathak through her performance and lecture. She emphasised on giving due importance to any form of art, be it performing or visual. The parents were also invited to be a part of the session along with students of other schools. Sharma along with her disciples performed on various themes related to Indian mythology. She, along her team of dancers and three instrumentalists, inspired the audience with her knowledge and performance towards the dance form. The programme was conducted in collaboration with Spic Macay, a non-political voluntary movement whose intention was to enrich the quality of formal education by increasing awareness about different aspects of Indian heritage and culture, thereby inspiring the young minds to imbibe the values embedded in it.

